

PREVIEW

THE TV SHOW

In the TV show, Take Away My Takeaway, TV presenter Dave Berry teaches British teenagers about their takeaways. If their favourite takeaway is Italian pizza, he sends them to Italy. If their favourite takeaway is Indian, he sends them to India.

When they get there, a chef shows them how to make their favourite dish. They learn that takeaways are not the same as the real thing! They discover that real food is tastier and healthier. And then they have to make it themselves.

THE PEOPLE

Jodie is a teenager from Birmingham. She loves Southern fried chicken. She buys it every week from her local takeaway.

Dave Berry comes from London. He is a popular presenter on British TV and radio.

Nora is a chef in New Orleans. She knows how to make the best Southern fried chicken.

THE PLACES

Birmingham is the second largest city in Britain. It is in the middle of England and about one million people live there.

Birmingham, UK

New Orleans is a city in Louisiana, in the south of the United States. In its long history, New Orleans has become famous for its food and music. The people are famous for their love of life.

New Orleans

Now watch Clip 1. How long do the teenagers stay abroad?

