

Prediction

Forensic Fred the police predictor

Forensic Fred can see where a story might have begun or where it might end.

From what I know linked to picture clues and text I guess what went before or what might happen next...

Sometimes he has a picture of the whole story long before the full story has been told and from the evidence that the clues provide, he can forecast what might have happened before and what might happen next...

I can see the 'whole picture' from little clues. I ask:
Who and what is this about?
What are they doing?
Where are they?
I ask why questions to predict what will happen next from what I know, to work out what I don't know. I can say how I know from the clues I find.

"My family have been kidnapped! I heard a big whooshing sound – then I saw a flash in the sky."
