SYNOPSIS

An abbess arrives at Nottingham Castle. She claims she has been attacked by outlaws. In Sherwood Forest, Robin Hood's men capture a tax collector and his son, who reveal that there is a huge amount of tax money in the castle. The taxman is forced to help the outlaws steal it, but he double crosses them and locks them in the castle strongroom. The outlaws escape. The Sheriff then rushes to check on the tax money, hidden in the chapel where the abbess has been at prayer – but she, along with the money, has disappeared. In the forest, the outlaws find the taxman and the abbess with all the tax money. Robin takes the money and distributes it among the poor. As a subplot, Marian has to deal with the unwanted attentions of Guy of Gisborne, and with her father's demand that she stops helping the poor or finds a new home. She arranges to go and live with the Abbess of Rufford, but at the last minute her father relents and promises to help her in her work with the poor.

THE BACK STORY

This popular TV series had its first season in 2006 with the third series finishing recently in April 2009. There may be plans to make a fourth. Each season had 13 episodes. The series is the latest of many television interpretations of the Robin Hood legend, and has been extremely popular with both the older and younger viewing public. The first TV Robin Hood was Richard Greene in the 1950s, and it was followed by other series in the 70s and 80s. Today's series is a successful combination of humour, adventure and romance. Themes include Marian's ambivalent feelings for Robin; the domineering Guy of Gisborne's clumsy love for her; and the defence of the innocent poor against the abuses of a corrupt local government.

Robin Hood has also been the inspiration for numerous film interpretations. The first was a silent movie made in 1908. Some of the films have been epic adventures, such as the 1938 Errol Flynn film, and others, like the 1993 film Men in Tights, have been comedies. Disney produced a hugely successful animated version in 1973, and perhaps one of the most famous Robin Hood films of all was Kevin Costner's Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves in 1991.

HOW TO USE YOUR SCHOLASTIC READER

Choosing and motivating

Is this the right story for your class? Have your students seen the series Robin Hood, or any other version of the legend? Motivate them with background information (see The Back Story above) and by reading aloud the first page of the story with dramatic atmosphere.

Organising

Plan a class reading schedule. Decide how many pages to set for reading each week. Select exercises from the Self-Study section at the back of the reader and extra activities from this resource sheet to go with each chunk of reading. (All answers on page 4 of this resource sheet.)

Using the CD

Students can listen and follow in their books. They can listen and then read. They can read and then listen. All these activities will improve their reading speeds and skills.

Using the DVD

Select the English language option on the DVD. 'The Taxman' is Episode 6: 'The Taxman Cometh', in Volume 2. You could show it in chunks of, say, 15 minutes, in parallel with the class reading schedule. Alternatively, show it when the class have finished the book, as a reward.

Glossary

Go to 'New Words' at the back of the reader. Translate the words with the class or get students to find meanings at home. The Vocabulary Builder on page 3 of this resource sheet practises the new words in a different context.

Casual language

Introduce the informal expressions used in 'The Taxman' (see Vocabulary Builder on page 3 of this resource sheet). Put them into context. Ask students to look out for them as they read.

Fact Files

Set these as self-study or use for whole class work. These provide background information about the making of Robin Hood and life in medieval England.

The Sheriff of Nottingham

MAKING ROBIN HOOD (pages 26–7)

Research and write

Ask students to work in small groups. Each group chooses a TV series that they enjoy. They find out where it is filmed and what life is like for the actors in the series. In class they pool their information to write a fact file about the series.

Discuss, write and act

In groups, students choose a hero from the past who they think would be a good subject for a TV show. They write a description of the characters and a scene from the show. They should act out their dialogue for the class, who votes on the best one.

TIME TRAVEL: ENGLAND IN THE YEAR 1200 (pages 28–9)

Discuss and write

Ask students to work in pairs to make up a daily schedule for Cecily, Eleanor or Edward. They should use the information in the text and the schedule on page 25 to help them.

Research and write

Students find out about the life of another child from medieval Europe, e.g. a prince or princess, a farmer's or blacksmith's son, a servant. They can use the Internet or a library. Give them some questions to answer, for example: Do they live in the town or the country? Who do they live with? Who teaches them? What do they learn? What jobs do they do? They then write a paragraph about the child, like the ones in the Fact File.

Discuss, write and roleplay

Students work in pairs. They write a list of the good and bad things about the life of a nun/monk. Then they swap partners and do a roleplay. One student is a parent, the other a child. They discuss the child's future and the possibility of becoming a nun/monk.

FILM/CD FOLLOW-UP

Observation

Choose a scene from the DVD episode and prepare questions on it before class, e.g. What colour is Marian's dress? Who gives Robin the book? etc. Play the scene a couple of times and ask the students your questions. Then play another scene; this time students have to write at least two questions for their partners to answer.

Prediction

Read a chapter with the students and play the relevant part of the DVD episode or CD. Stop at some dramatic points and ask what happens next.

Awards

Play part of the episode on DVD and ask children to vote for the best actor, the most exciting scene and the best costume.

Roleplay

Put students into pairs and ask them to out a part of the story. They can choose from:

- the abbess and Sir Guy, page 6
- Marian and Sir Guy, pages 8–9
- Marian and Robin, page 16
- Edward and Marian, page 23
