The Chime Monster Compendium

Can't see the creepy creatures of the Unseen World like Robyn, Aiden and Nora? Have a go at drawing what you think they look like from these dreadful descriptions instead!

KOBOLD

Small but extremely vicious – they look like a spiky goblin crossed with a bad-tempered porcupine. Approach at your own peril – those teeth are sharp.

VODANOY

These sneaky cousins of kobolds like to rear up out of lakes, ditches and ponds and attack. Their grey skin is raised in ridges along their body and they have large webbed hands and feet – all the better for dragging people under the water...

NESHA

A terrifying underwater denizen with 12 huge tentacles – these have suckers attached to ensnare their prey. Try not to faint when you spot their six angry eyes and mouth full of spiky teeth – you'll be dragged down into the deep before you know it.
