What do you think?

● Read the opinions below. Do you agree or disagree with them? Write what you would say in the empty speech bubbles. Remember to give a reason for your opinion.

We should stop building roads, because more new roads just encourages people to drive. This increases pollution and adds to the strain on the environment. There are already too many roads anyway. We should break up some of the roads and turn them back into countryside.

I think recycling is stupid! It gives councils a real problem to collect all the material, and then it's hard for them to make any money out of it. A lot of the stuff ends up in landfill dumps anyway. We should just stick our rubbish in the bin and forget about it.